

Auburn Council Logo

The bird represents the "Eastern Swamp Hen" that is a black bird with red beak and red legs that is seen on the banks of Duck River and in the Auburn Botanic Gardens. A popular tradition says that this was the "bird" after which "Duck" River is named even though it is not a duck.

It has a characteristic bobbing motion that is captured in the moving logo when the Council website is opened.